SPENCER ROBINSON AND OTHER BOYS ENJOY CAMP

Fred H. Killick Back From Scout Headquarters on Catalina Island

"There is no better place for boys to be than Camp Howland, eighteen miles north of Avalon on Catalina Island," said Fred H. Killick, expert swimmer and life saver, who returned last night smiling through a heavy coat of sunburn acquired the past week while in camp with the 100 or more Glendale Boy Scouts. Mayor Spencer Robinson and Scout executives at Camp Howland.

"The camp is a picture of happiness," added Mr. Killick, "and as for Mayor Robinson, he's being a boy with the rest, sleeping with a troop of the Scouts, eating the camp fare, taking part in Scout activities and directing the camp chorus, and it's done him a world of good. In fact, it's done him so much good that he is desirous of staying another week and he delegated me to bring the request to the city manager that the Thursday council meeting be postponed until next Monday."

Camp Program
A bugle call at 5:55 o'clock each morning echoes out over the camp and is the rising call. Clad in pajamas and slippers the boys are lined up in front of their tents for calisthenics, directed by a physical education expert from the University of California.

Following the exercise the Scouts dress and clear their tents, all being being put in the open for airing.

Breakfast is served at 6:45 o'clock and inspection follows, inspection of tents and personal appearance. Boys and troops receive credits on neatness and military spirit and the troop awarded the greatest number of credits wins the honor pennant for the day and the trophy pennant goes to the troop scoring the lowest.

Swimming Exercises
At 10:30 o'clock the boys don their bathing suits for an hour of aquatic sports and this was the work inspected and supervised by Mr. Killick. First the beginners are given instruction, the intermediates wade in, and finally the expert swimmers and life-saving group take a plunge. Mr. Killick, who is widely known for his ability as a swimming teacher and life-saver, has taken a number of trips with (Continued on Page 10)

Search for Meanest Thief Is Under Way

A burglar has to sink pretty low to steal pennies from orphans. Such is the opinion of J. A. Pope and J. E. Tollett, proprietors of the confectionery at 111 South Brand boulevard known as Pope and Tollett's.

No, Mr. Pope and Mr. Tollett do not claim to be orphans. Their establishment was entered through a rear window between 11:30 p. m. and dawn this morning, and the milk bottle charity bank, containing about $8 worth of small coins, was stolen. The cash register was broken open also with a clawhammer and $25 worth of change was removed.

This is the third time Mr. Pope and Mr. Tollett have been robbed in the past few months. They are hopeful that it will be the last.

Epworth League In Meeting at Tujunga

Seventeen members of the Epworth League society of the Casa Verdugo church, under the leadership of Miss Alice Green, first vice-president, went to Tujunga last night where they were guests of the Epworth league of the Tujunga church. They boarded the Monrovia car at an early hour and were met by a committee of the hosts, and motored to Monte Vista park, Sunland, where they were entertained at a light supper, served picnic style.

From there they repaired to Manzanita park in Tujunga where the Epworth league service was conducted around a campfire. They were transported back to the carline in automobiles and returned home at an early hour.

Auto and Motorbike Meet In Collision

The Elrod automobile vehicle was slightly damaged yesterday morning between Tujunga and San Fernando, when it was run into by a motorcycle driven by S. Duse, who refused to give his address.

The Elrods formerly lived at 651 Gardena avenue, but recently moved to 181 Prospect avenue, a Crescenta. Ronald A. Elrod was driving. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Edith Elrod and his brothers, Rollis and Kenneth, and Horace Hamlin.

According to Mr. Elrod's statement, the motorcycle and side car wrenched across the road then turned directly into his machine. Damage was slight.

BULLETINS By International News Leased Wire

Restraints Strikers

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., July 24.—Striking railway shopmen are restrained from illegal picketing or otherwise interfering with operations of the road in a temporary injunction granted by Federal Judge George W. English, here today in favor of the Lake Erie & Western railroad company. The order was made returnable next Saturday, July 29.

Plan of Dictator

WASHINGTON, July 24.—First actual steps to put in operation the government's plan of making the interstate commerce commission the virtual dictator of the country's coal production and distribution for the period of the national emergency were taken here this afternoon. A group of six producing coal operators was appointed to begin a series of conferences with officials of the interstate commerce commission and officials of the American railway executives in conjunction with carrying out the plan.

Temporary Victory

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The five men indicted here last February on charges of manslaughter in connection with the famous Knickerbocker theatre collapse, in which ninety-seven persons were killed, won a temporary victory in criminal court today. Justice Siddons sustained the demurrers filed to the indictment and pronounced them faulty and not based upon reasonable certainty.

Long Way Around

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 24.—Perplexed trainmen finally hit upon the plan of loading somewhat buxom Lilly Murphy, a Shelby county negress, upon a truck and putting her in a baggage car, because she couldn't get through a passenger coach door when she made train connections here last night on her way to Evansville, Ind. Lilly is said to weigh 750 pounds and to have a waist measure of "about nine feet."

Another Refusal

INDIANAPOLIS, July 24.—All hope of a state settlement of the coal strike through the medium of a conference between representatives of Indiana miners and Indiana operators went glimmering this afternoon when Governor McCray received a second polite refusal from John Hessler, president of District No. 11, United Mine Workers of America, to take his colleagues into such a meeting.

High School Mass Meeting August 8th

The next mass meeting in the high school series will be held August 8 in the high school auditorium. Definite proposals for the purchase of a west side site are scheduled to be presented to the high school board of trustees at this time. A number of options on property are being obtained. Among them is one for twenty-five acres of the Hahn estate, just north of the Burbank car line at Kenilworth road. S. C. Hahn of Los Angeles has signified his willingness to sell this tract for $50,000. This transaction will not include any agent's fee. O. M. Newby of 803 North Pacific avenue will bring this site to the attention of the taxpayers at the mass meeting.

Meanwhile, the high school board has written to the various civic organizations of Glendale requesting permission to explain the high school situation before the mass meeting is held so that unnecessary questions will be prevented.

Masons Will Greet Grand Master Burke

The members of Unity lodge No. 365, F. & A. M., which Dwight W. Stephenson is worshipful master, and also the members of Masonic lodges of Eagle Rock, Burbank, San Fernando and Van Nuys are planning to unite in giving a reception at Masonic temple, Glendale, Tuesday night, August 8, at 8 o'clock in honor of Samuel E. Burke, grand master of Masons of the state of California.

WEST SIDE SCHOOL SITE

The question of a west side high school site is scheduled for discussion August 1 at the next meeting of the Foothill Improvement Association.

HAVE ANY IDEAS FOR GOOD NAME FOR CITY PARK?

C. of C. Civics Committee
Urges Public to Send In Many Suggestions

What shall we name Glendale's youngest, youngest civic asset, the new municipal park, is the problem that is confronting the civics committee of the Chamber of Commerce in particular, and every citizen of Glendale in general. "Now, naming the baby and naming the park are two very different problems," says Dr. Jessie Russell, chairman of the civics committee. "Naming the baby is usually an exclusive neighborhood affair and asks the proud parents need do is take a list of the good old names handed down through centuries and then select something like Sarah Maude or William Henry and the child becomes a real personality regardless of all previous Sarah Maudes or William Henrys."

Something Different
"But the naming of a city park is not so easily dispensed with. It must have a name that is entirely different from the names of all the hundreds of other parks in the United States a name indicative of the beauties of the place, and a name that will inspire the people of Glendale—and people from all parts of Southern California to pack a big picnic lunch and the family and neighbors in the family car and seek the beauties and pleasure of that particular spot."

"Furthermore, the name should come from the residents of the community and for this reason the civics committee is asking the interest and suggestions of the people of Glendale. "Among the suggestions we have received are Glendale Park, East Glendale Park, Woodland Glen, Municipal Park and Glendale. We want more and ask everyone in Glendale send in a name either to The Evening News office or to the civics committee at the Chamber of Commerce."

Battle Creek Club Holds Annual Outing

Fully 300 persons were present at the annual midsummer meeting of the Battle Creek association which was convened yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in the open-air theatre at Brookside park, Pasadena. Members of this association are physicians, nurses and persons who have in other ways been associated with the work of the Battle Creek institution.

Many interesting addresses were made on the subject, emphasizing the Battle Creek idea, the founding and progress of the work of the Battle Creek institution and its expansion. Among the speakers were Elder A. G. Daniels, ex-president of the general conference of the Seventh Day Adventist church; Dr. H. E. Harrower, of Glendale, president of the association; Volney H. Lucas, of Pasadena, secretary; Pliny Haskell of Arizona.

A community dinner was served on the tables at the park, and the afternoon hours were devoted to games and social pleasures.

Among Glendale people in attendance were Dr. Lydia Parmelee, Pastor Parmelee, Dr. Julia White, Miss Veda Marsh, Miss Veda Marsh, Miss Kerr, all of the Glendale sanitarium.

Club Building Fund Aided by Card Party

The building fund for the Tuesday afternoon club was increased considerably as the result of a card party given Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Warren Roberts, 617 East Elk avenue, and which was attended by approximately fifty members of that organization and their friends. Mrs. Roberts was assisted as hostess by Mrs. Walter Jones and Mrs. Bert Woodward. The spacious rooms of the Roberts residence were most artistically decorated with bouquets of roses, carnations and dahlias.

First prize at bridge was awarded to Mrs. Harry Whaley and Dr. J. L. Smith, and at "500" first prize was awarded to Mrs. Arthur Dibern and M. C. Barker. At the close of a delightful evening refreshments were served.

Mrs. H. R. Williams, Hurt, to Return Home

Mrs. H. R. Williams of Little Rock, Arkansas, who has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Brier of 304 North Kenwood street for the past two weeks, expects to be able to leave for home tomorrow after having been delayed here several days as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident last Wednesday night. Instead of going to the northern part of the state to visit with relatives, as she had planned, she will now go directly to Arkansas under doctors' orders.

Mrs. Williams is being accompanied on the trip by her granddaughter, Miss Audrey Chrisp.

GLENDALE YOUTHS ARE BACK FROM Y VACATION

Number of Local Lads Are Prize Winners In Sports
Held on Island

Tanned, tired and happy, the boys from this district of the Y. M. C. A. who have been attending the summer camp on Catalina Island returned Saturday night by special Pacific Electric train from Wilmington, arriving in Glendale at 8:30 p. m.

All day Sunday the boys were busy recounting the numerous adventures which they experienced while at Catalina. 103 persons were in camp, mostly from the district, with a few from Monrovia, Azusa and San Dimas. A number of Glendale boys won honors at the camp. A point system was used, credits being awarded for proficiency in each of the various camp activities. Fifty-five boys made the required number of points and were awarded the monogram, a blue Y and red triangle on a white background.

Local Boys Winners
Medals were awarded to the winners in the athletic meet. The lightweight class medal, competed for by boys between sixty and ninety pounds, was won by Francis Graves of Eagle Rock.

In the middle weight class, between the weights of ninety and 120 pounds, John Wardell of Glendale made the highest number of points and received the medal. The heavyweight class, from 120 pounds up, was won by A. Daniels of Monrovia. The George Bell of Glendale won the horseshoe pitching tournament and received an award, and Henry Allen of San Dimas won the medal for shooting with the 22 caliber target rifle which had been donated to the camp by Cornwell & Kelly, hardware and sporting goods dealers of Glendale.

Tent inspection was part of the daily program, and a particularly bitter rivalry existed between the boys whose leader was Assistant Coach Howard Butterfield of Glendale Union High school, and those under Coach David Sturgis of Citrus Union High school. Already rivals in school athletics, each of these two leaders was determined to win the cherished pennant for the best tent inspection. After a close contest lasting throughout the camp period, Coach Sturgis' boys won, and received an award (Continued on Page 10)

Francisco Verdugo Beaten by Robbers

Francisco Verdugo, descendant of the Spanish family which once owned the Verdugo estate, about 9 o'clock last night was overpowered by thugs in the Verdugo canyon and robbed.

Senor Verdugo, who is about 70 years of age, yesterday went to Los Angeles in a conveyance and business, taking with him a $100 bill and some small change. Upon returning home he left the Glendale and Montrose car at Alpha street and started for his home. Two men also left the car at the same stop. As soon as the car had gotten out of sight these men pounced upon Senor Verdugo and robbed him of his watch, $4 in currency and a ring. Failing to find the $100 bill, which he had loaned to a friend in the city, they knocked him down and departed.

Captain Dodsworth Back From Vacation

Captain Ralph Dodsworth of Fire Station No. 1 resumed his labors in the local fire department last night after a two weeks' vacation which he spent in touring the northern part of the state. He drove up to San Francisco via the valley route and spent about a week touring the Bay region, it is understood. He returned by way of the coast route.

Captain Dodsworth was rather disappointed at having missed out on the two sensational fires of last week, but will be right "among 'em" for the next twelve months.

Three Persons Hurt In Auto Accident

An automobile accident this morning near Montrose caused Mrs. Maurice Noskin of Los Angeles and her daughter, Beatrice, and nephew, Harry Becker, to be brought to the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital. Harry received a broken right arm and a dislocated wrist. Beatrice was badly cut. Mrs. Noskin was badly bruised.

GLENDALE ON PROGRAM

Glendale today is again represented at a Los Angeles radio broadcasting station. Under the auspices of the music department of the University of Southern California, a group of songs will be sung by Mrs. Charles A. Parker of 212 North Orange street, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Chapman of 441 Hawthorne street. The menu includes "Pale Moon" by Logan; "Could I be Tost," and "My Little Love" by Hawley.

PUBLIC INSPECTION OF POSTOFFICE BIG SUCCESS

Visitors Are Taken Through
New Home; Improvements
Being Outlined

The inspection of the Glendale postoffice by the general public Saturday afternoon was a complete success, according to Assistant Postmaster George Hallett, who was one of the reception committee.

Visitors were personally conducted through the new office by members of the committee. Those who had been familiar with the size, equipment and methods of handling used in the old office were surprised and delighted at the greatly increased space, the augmented equipment, and the more efficient system which these improvements have made possible.

The reception committee was kept busy between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock and explained to the visitors the way in which mail is handled through the office, pointing out the recent improvements.

Members of Committee

Those on the committee were Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson, Assistant Postmaster George Hallett, Mrs. H. B. Ellis, Miss Irene L. Rich, F. B. Walker, W. S. Gamble and J. H. Willock.

Saturday afternoon also was the beginning of the new vacation period system which is being inaugurated in the local office. Fifty per cent of the employees are to be given a half holiday on Saturday, so long as this does not interfere with the handling of the mails.

"The trial last Saturday was satisfactory from every standpoint," says Assistant Postmaster Hallett. "The window service, the two mail deliveries and the sending and receiving of the mails were maintained just as though the entire force were working. Those who remained arranged and systematized their work so that they covered everything. Next Saturday these people will have the half-holiday and those who were off will work."

Time-Saving Systems

Speaking of the results of the inauguration of the new system Mr. Hallett said:

"I feel that this is a great step in the improvement of conditions for carriers, and postal employees in general. They are delighted with the arrangements, and they do the same amount of work in less time so that they may be off without affecting the service. We hope to operate the office just as any other business is conducted, giving the employees much the same advantages and concessions as clerks in other offices. By gradually working out time-saving systems and arranging our programs accordingly, I believe that we will be able to do it with complete success."

Automobile Journey North Is Enjoyed

Accounts of a most enjoyable vacation outing are given by members of the H. B. Goldsborough family of Gardena avenue, who returned yesterday from a two weeks' motor trip north. In company with the C. T. Van Etten family the Goldsboroughs drove north by the desert route to Lake Tahoe, where they camped at Meeks' bay. They also spent some time at Mammoth Lake, at Convict creek and three miles above the Mt. Whitney fishery. They returned home by the valley route, the Van Etten stopping for a long visit at the Big Trees and planning to reach Glendale later in the week.

Miss Corinne Orff Returns From Outing

Miss Corinne E. Orff of 465 West Milford street, society editor for The Glendale Evening News, is back at her desk in this office after a two weeks' vacation. Miss Orff and mother, Mrs. C. J. Orff, spent a week at Laguna Beach Tent City. While there they enjoyed motor trips to Arch Beach, Green Bay and other points of interest. A particularly splendid display of paintings was on exhibition at the Art Gallery at Laguna Beach, there being a large number of artists who are making their homes at that attractive beach city.

Special Features for Veterans' Daughters

An entertainment program arranged by Mrs. Queen Danner is to be the feature of the open meeting Tuesday night of the Mary Jane Gillette Tent 18, Daughters of Veterans, in the American Legion hall on East Broadway. Mrs. Danner and her committee have announced that there is to be a special number, which promises to afford much amusement and for which a prize will be awarded. Community singing will also be a program feature. All visiting sons and daughters of veterans have been invited to the meeting.

Mr. Loree pointed out that Chairman Hooper had said President Harding had sought to know the strike situation from every angle, getting the viewpoint of the men as well as the employers. According to Mr. Loree, however, the president, in his effort to get the viewpoint of the men, attempted to get information only from those who went out and not those who remained at work.

LOCAL GIRL HELPS RESCUE MAN IN HEAVY SEAS

Miss Alma Anderson, Expert
Swimmer, Aids Guards
at Long Beach

While swimming in the ocean near the Pacific bath house, Long Beach yesterday afternoon, Miss Alma Anderson of 423 Oak street, Glendale, notice a man who appeared to be dead, floating on the surface of the water about 300 yards out, and swam to him along with two life guards who had started out after the man in answer to a call which may be responsible for saving the man's life.

According to the story told by Miss Alma Anderson at her home here today, she was splashing about in the surf on a surf board when her attention was attracted by a floating object on the water which appeared to be the lifeless body of a man. Miss Anderson started out to get a closer view of the object and to render any possible aid that might be given.

Encounters Undertow
Before she reached the body the life guards, who had started out from the shore, already had the body of the man in hand, but Miss Anderson continued on out until she reached them as she was an expert swimmer. While returning to shore with the guards and her surf board which she still had with her, a strong undertow was encountered along with the heavy breakers which raved the rescuers a battle to reach the beach. Fearing for Miss Anderson's safety, Lifeguard Edward West advised her to let him have her board to being helped as she might be injured in the heavy sea. She turned the board over to him and continued her swim shoreward.

When over half the distance to the shore had been covered by Miss Anderson, who did not realize how far out she had gone, she commenced to slow up a little because of the severe strain in battling the undertow, and the life guard who thought she was about to be carried out, went to her assistance and helped her in.

She Becomes Tired
"I could have made the grade alright by myself," said Miss Anderson, "although I admit I was pretty tired and my arms a bit sore from the effort." Some reports were circulated (Continued on Page 10)

Former Local Pastor and Bride Visitors

A wedding of interest to many Glendale people took place in Pasadena, ten days ago, when Miss Tryphena Cody, recently of Salt Lake City, and Dr. Mardiros Stone, of Victorville, were united in marriage. Dr. Stone is a native of Armenia and was formerly pastor of the Casa Verdugo Methodist church. They were calling upon friends in Glendale Saturday and were in attendance at the Casa Verdugo church service Sunday morning, where they were tendered a hearty welcome. Dr. and Mrs. Stone, who are stopping in Pasadena, will leave immediately for San Jose where they will spend a few weeks before leaving for Victorville where Dr. Stone is a resident pastor.

L. G. Sherman Hurt While In Bathing

L. G. Sherman of 316 West Lexington drive, popular member of the Glendale lodge of Elks, had the misfortune of having his leg injured yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman were visiting at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans at Hermosa Beach and were in bathing at the time of the accident. The waves were so strong that Mr. Sherman was thrown, injuring his leg. He had the solifame leg badly injured about four years ago. Mr. Sherman is at a Los Angeles hospital and it is believed that he will get along nicely. The doctor's verdict, however, will not be known until this evening.

Four Hollywood Folk Injured In Crash

Four residents of Hollywood, who were victims of an automobile accident last yesterday afternoon, were rushed to the Glendale Research Hospital. Mrs. Jean Van W. Bradbury had a broken right arm and severe cuts. Her daughter, Miss I. Bradbury, received numerous bruises and cuts. Eugene A. Wilson was badly cut and Miss Leona W. Smith also was bruised and cut.

THOMAS PHILP HERE
Thomas V. Philp arrived in Glendale last week from Chicago, Illinois, where for the past fourteen months he has been connected with the Chapell Ice Cream company. Mr. Philp will take up his permanent residence in Glendale, making his home with his mother, Mrs. Ella F. Philp, 221 North Orange street. Mr. Philp was greatly surprised at the remarkable growth of Glendale since his last visit here.

MONSTERNURSERY IS PROPOSED FOR EAGLE ROCK

Chrysanthemum Cuttings to Be Shipped All Over the West; 300 Varieties

With the sale of the Eagle Rock Gardens by Mrs. B. P. Garrett to Victor Swanson, formerly of the California Floral company of Los Angeles, preparations are being made to put eight acres of ground into cultivation of chrysanthemums and daffodils. When these plans have been completed, Eagle Rock will have the largest chrysanthemum nursery engaged in shipping of cuttings in the west, according to daffodils for exportation. Elmer D. Smith of Adrian, Mich., as the largest shipper of this class of flowers.

Over 300 varieties of chrysanthemums are now in stock and with the additional acreage to be placed under cultivation it is expected that several more varieties will be included. While Mr. Swanson will specialize in the chrysanthemum cuttings for shipping, he will devote part of his time to developing daffodils for disposition as cut flowers on the Los Angeles market.

The western flower markets are already familiar with Eagle Rock chrysanthemums as Mrs. Garrett has been shipping cuttings for the past three years but not on such an extensive scale as is planned by Mr. Swanson.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Away On Vacation
Sure, We Like to Travel
Glad It's Not Texas
Auto Club's Service

By Gil A. Cowan

THE commentator is gone. He is gone from the happy vale of Glendale to vacation land and presumably enjoying the most of a week or two.

So many people had been reported here and there and everywhere that one could not help but take ten days' travel this summer, were conditions possible.

So the writer is some place else than Glendale today and will tomorrow tell the readers of this "column" how good Glendale is—compared with other places.

Truth is, we like to travel. It is good for the health, so the doctors say. It gives a person a change, a variety, a kaleidoscope view of things.

Then, too, you meet people in different parts with different ideas, although fundamentally human nature is the same most everywhere. Heaven help us if we had lived in Glendale all of our lives without going anywhere.

A person cannot maintain enthusiasm, daily life grows dull, values sink lower and lower in the mind's eye and it takes a good big bump to get out of the rut, if you please.

However, we are glad that the trip we are taking is not to Texas, from reports on the roads of Arizona and New Mexico. They are a little too rough for satisfaction.

Visitors to Yosemite National Park also report several bad stretches, so we will avoid that place. And we are going to miss a lot of California because of lack of time. What we see you hear more or less about.

The first thing done before starting on the trip was to call at the Automobile Club and get their complete map book—a mighty handy package of information.

And M. B. Towman assured the writer that the agents of the club would do everything but pay a fine in case of one of their members being arrested.

Then, too, they have a free tow service, which isn't such a bad idea, provided a telephone is handy. That's service for you!

Now then for somebody else's idea on events of the day: The Pasadena Star-News says:

"Aerial mail service, in this country, established a remarkable record for the last year's daily service. Not a single fatal accident occurred in the service last year, whereas there were seven deaths in the year preceding. The transcontinental mail air planes, on the New York to San Francisco route, covered a grand total of 1,750,000 miles. More than 49,000,000 letters were carried by air, with total weight of 1,224,500 pounds.

"The air mail service of the Postoffice Department, in an official statement, says that the aerial mail record for the last year 'proves more conclusively than any other test ever made, the reliability and the efficiency of the airplane in commercial service.' Postoffice Department planes flew 'through every kind of weather, summer, fall, winter and spring, and over mountains, deserts and forests.' The no-death record of the service is attributed to the fact that all the air-mail pilots are experienced and tried, and know the route. So successful is the venture, it is the intention of the Postoffice Department to establish night aerial mail service on the transcontinental route within the ensuing year.

"Development and expansion of air mail routes may be expected. This service is beyond the stage of experiment. Its feasibility is well established. Ere long there will be day and night aerial mails connecting all the important cities of the country."

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE BABY FISH

Once upon a time there was a baby fish who lived in a babbling brook which flowed through a green meadow. He was a cute little fish, but very small, and some of the larger fish in the brook often laughed at the tiny chap.

"Oh, ho!" cried the big fish. "You are so small you never will be of any use in this world." "You were little bits of things yourselves at one time," gasped the baby fish, with a flip of his tail. "Just you wait until I grow and I'll show you what I can do." But the little fish grew very slowly, and when he wanted to swim off up stream with the older fish drove him back to the quiet pool where the spicy green watercress grew, saying: "You can't come with us until you are larger."

The little fish splashed a lot of water.

This caused the little fish to be sad, and as he swam around and around in the watercress pool he said to himself:

"I don't care! I'm going off by myself and have an adventure! If they don't want me to come with them up the brook, I'll go out on the land and see what happens!"

Now this was not wise for the little fish to do, for he was made to live in water and not on land. However, he gave a big flap of his tail, and almost before he knew it, he had sprung out of the brook and found himself flapping on the meadow grass.

"Oh, dear!" cried the baby fish, for soon he found he could not breathe the air on land. There was too much of it for him. He needed to take his air very slowly through his gills from the water of the brook. "Oh, dear!" gasped the baby fish. "I guess I made a mistake coming out on land! I wish I was back in the water!"

But, though he flipped and flopped, he could not get back into the cool brook, and he was almost dead, when along hopped Uncle Wiggily Longears, the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Hum! I wonder what that is flapping in the grass?" said the bunny to himself, as he twinkled his pink nose while walking across the meadow. "Perhaps the Wuzzle Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox is hiding in the tall grass to catch me as I hop past. I must be careful." And then the gasping voice of the baby fish cried:

"Oh, will some one please help me to get back into the brook?"

Then Uncle Wiggily knew he was in no danger and the bunny said:

"I'll help you, baby fish!"

REV. FORD SPEAKS UPON LIFE OF THE MASTER

Parting Words to Apostles
at Mt. of Olives Topic of Sunday Services

Rev. Ernest E. Ford of the First Baptist church has been preaching a series of sermons on the "Life of the Master." He is nearing the close of the series and has been preaching from the forty days after the Resurrection. Yesterday in his morning sermon he spoke of the parting words of the Master as He went with His apostles up the Mt. of Olives, and there passed from the seen to the unseen.

Rev. Ford took the last verses of the Gospel of Luke as his text: "The Apostles are again in Jerusalem, the Master is with them."

"In His company one day they walk the familiar path down across the brook Kedron and up the road leading to the summit of Olivet," said Rev. Ford. "Many, many times they had been over that road together. Here it was they came that night. He and the eleven. 'After they had sung a hymn they went out into the Mt. of Olives.' Over this road came the rabble, led by the traitor Judas, who before them all designated the right one with a kiss. And back that same road went the mob with Jesus as a prisoner, while the Apostles forsook Him and fled.

Lead to Summit

"And now once more He led them out toward Bethany." It is supposed that He led them to a summit of the ridge, the place is not known. But from the summit, which is about 200 feet above the Temple, they could see the plains of Bethlehem where the Shepherds were feeding their flocks that night when He was born.

"Off to the east are the waters of the Jordan where He was baptized. There to the west in all its golden splendor shines the temple, where He had been rejected and whose doom He had pronounced. Below them was the garden of His suffering and off across the valley is the rounded knoll where He was crucified. And we can imagine that He raised His eyes toward the north and looked off toward the place of His boyhood home and blue Galilee.

"While they beheld, He was taken up and a cloud received Him out of their sight." They saw the cloud that received Him the cloud of God, the Shekinah cloud. And in this cloud He will come again as He has promised. When? But there is no answer. That is one of the secrets of God which He has not revealed to us—not even to His Son.

Blame I. W. W. for Rumors of Trouble

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 24. — Charging that I. W. W. agitators are attempting to stir up trouble among the coal miners, Lee Hall, president of the United Mine Workers of Ohio, declared here today that "if reports of men deserting pumps at mines in Belmont county are true, they will be immediately ordered back to work."

President Hall asserted that strict adherence is to be kept to the agreement made by the United Mine Workers at the start of the strike to keep men at the mine pumps in order to protect property from flood and fire.

VISITORS PRAISE COLLEGE AFTER INSPECTION

Thousand Delegates Motor to Eagle Rock From
Meeting of Synod

More than a thousand delegates to the Presbyterian Synod which is now being held in Pasadena were the guests Saturday afternoon and evening of Occidental College, Eagle Rock.

The visitors drove over from Pasadena in several hundred automobiles, most of them bearing a little banner "Presbyterian Synod." Arriving at the college at about 2:30 in the afternoon, they walked about the campus and through the buildings, expressing amazement at the completeness of the buildings and equipment, and the beauty of the college.

"I am surprised," said one of the guests, "at this wonderful little college. I never expected to find such a truly modern and yet picturesque group of buildings. I am told that the school refuses admission regularly at the beginning of each year because their enrollment is limited, and I can readily believe it. I only wish I had had such a college to attend in my school days."

"The size of the athletic field and stadium alone are enough to prove that the college is a progressive institution. In my college days, athletics, in the broad sense, did not receive the support and encouragement that they now do."

"The city of Eagle Rock also is a surprise to me. I had heard of Eagle Rock, California, but I had never expected to find such a truly scenic spot. As I stood on the hillside yonder a few minutes ago, I could see the length of the valley to where the eagle spreads its wings as though to take the city under them. It was a beautiful sight, and one that I shall not soon forget."

"This trip to Eagle Rock and Occidental College is one of the things I shall take back with me in memory as one of the most inspiring portions of the entire program of the Synod."

A baseball game was provided in the late afternoon for the entertainment of the delegates, who then repaired to the upper quad for a picnic supper.

The evening was devoted to part of the regular program of the Synod.

Charles F. Martins En Route to Kansas

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Martins and son, R. E. Martins of 125 1/2 North Brand boulevard, who have spent the past year in Glendale, left Saturday for their former home in Winfield, Kan. The trip is being made via automobile, a number of camping stopovers being planned en route.

R. E. Martins, who recently graduated from the college of law at the University of Southern California, plans to associate himself with an established law firm in Winfield, after which his parents will probably return to make Glendale their permanent home.

STIRRING SERMON COLLECTORS HAVE IS PREACHED BY REV. E. ISAAC

'The Stream of Power' Told
by Pastor of Eagle Rock Congregational

Rev. E. Morgan Isaac, pastor of the First Congregational church spoke Sunday morning on "The Stream of Power." He said in part:

One of the most potent statements ever uttered in any language may be found in the first chapter of Genesis where it says: "In the beginning God." Then follows the most remarkable outflow of power expression the mind of man has ever beheld. The heavens and the earth come into manifestation, chaos becomes order, a great light illumines immensely, the heavens are filled with clouds, worlds are ordered into great systems, and the suns dash their golden light through unmeasured space, for back of all is God, and God is Power, and power is universal.

That in brief is the story of the stream of power that found its source in the eternal. The inspired writers have often spoken of it as the river of God bringing joy and gladness. Others have likened it to a well of water springing up into everlasting life. Still others have seen it as love pushing its way through all creation until the child, as an expression of it, smiles on its mother's knee.

Makes Man Glad
This stream of power may well be called the River of God. Out of the heart of the eternal it has flowed cleansing the ages with its crystal waters until we see today the rising sun of a new epoch that is destined to make glad the heart of man.

The prophet of gloom sees dark clouds in the sky of every age. He sees the gathering storms of divine wrath, and prattles his pessimistic message to bewildered ignorance. But God is not frightened. Man cannot scare him. Light is never afraid of darkness. Light is never defeated by darkness. God is Light, and God is Love, and God is Power, and the stream of power is inexhaustible and eternal. Instead of being at the end of the world we are at the very beginning of the most marvelous age the world has ever known. In the beginning God! He is the First and Last and all between.

Business Men Report That Profit and Loss Column
Not Very Extensive

Diogenes should have no trouble finding an honest person in Eagle Rock and there is apparently no red side to the ledger books of the business men there is what F. L. Carter, resident manager of a Los Angeles paper and Mrs. Ray M. Rees, cashier of the Eagle Rock water department says can be taken as a criterion.

According to Mr. Carter the paper he represents has less trouble making collections in that community than in many other towns where the paper is circulated. A similar statement has been issued by Mrs. Rees in which she declares that it is rare indeed to have a case where it is necessary to shut off the water because of failure to pay delinquent bills.

The same sentiment seems to prevail among the majority of business houses and Eagle Rock is thinking of creating a slogan to advertise the fact to the world.

RADIO EXPLAINED

By E. H. LEWIS
INSTRUCTOR NEW YORK Y.M.C.A. RADIO SCHOOL

RESISTANCE COUPLING OF RADIO FREQUENCY AMPLIFIERS

Instead of tuned circuits or choke coils, resistances might be used to couple the output circuit of one amplifier tube to the input circuit of the next or to a detector tube. The resistance should be about four or five times the internal plate-to-filament resistance of the tube in whose plate circuit it is connected. This is in order to make the potential variations at the terminals of the resistance as great as possible. With a tube having a resistance of 20,000 ohms the coupling resistance should thus be between 80,000 and 100,000 ohms. It should be a non-inductive resistance. It should not be so great, however, as to reduce the plate current excessively.

A decided advantage of resistance coupled amplifiers, when used for long wave reception, is that there is no resonance effect in the resistance, and satisfactory operation may be had on a very wide band of wave lengths. Although amplification is decreased with high frequency because of the comparatively low effective resistance between grid and filament, when the tube capacity is high, this disadvantage results in an advantage when long waves are received. The signals on short waves are suppressed if they tend to produce interference, as are also any local oscillations of short wave length (high frequency) which might be generated in the circuits.

If vacuum tubes of extremely low internal capacities could be used, resistance coupled radio frequency amplifiers would solve a number of problems regarding difficulty in operation. As it is, however, this type of coupling is not at all successful on the short waves generally used for radio-telephone broadcasting and those used by amateurs for communication.

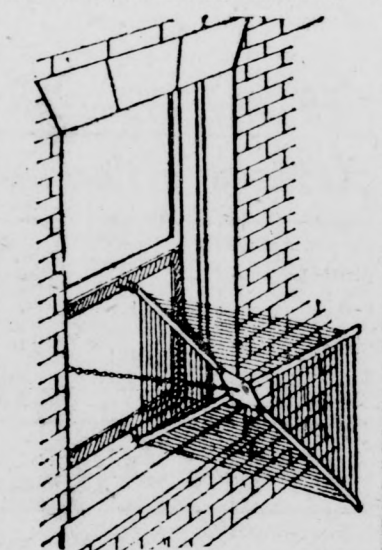

The disadvantage of this type of coupling is that the plate battery must have high voltage, in any event, higher than that required by the previous types. Another is that the capacity of most tubes is so high that at very short waves (high frequencies) the capacitive reactance is low enough to act as at least a partial short circuit. Capacitive reactance decreases with an increase of either applied frequency or condenser capacity.

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

DETACHABLE OUTDOOR LOOP ANTENNA

The trend to eliminate the outdoor antenna, whether it is in a city, where the great number of aerials on apartment house roofs are daily becoming more of a problem to the rank and file of radio enthusiasts (due to the interference produced by nearby tuning on tube sets, and the consequent heterodyning of one's incoming signal, which, in the case of music, produces an extremely disagreeable impression to the layman) or whether the antennae are out in the country, where considerable static accumulates, is causing many inquiries regarding loop aerials.

Such a loop wound to the 360 meter wave length and attractively finished has recently appeared on the market. A novel idea connected with it is that the entire loop is fastened by two of its cross pieces at right angles to a parallelogram fitting a forty-eight inch window. This base is fastened by screws and can be put in place in ten minutes. The loop being movable, the device can then be pointed in the direction of the incoming signals, thereby obtaining greatest intensity. The advantages are obvious. Less static is noticed as the first sign. More selective tuning is its component. Its disadvantage is that on audio frequency amplification the signal strength is considerably cut down and radio frequency amplification is almost a necessity where reliable long distance work is required. It is not advisable to use this loop or any loop on crystal sets, as no results can be expected unless the station which the operator wishes to receive from is only a very short distance away.

ALL MUST STAND IN JUDGMENT, PASTOR HOLDS

Rev. C. A. Cole Visualizes What Will Occur at Big "Prayer Meeting"

"Things we will all do in eternity" was the topic of the sermon last night at the Central Christian church.

"A good many act as though they thought there were to be no eternity," asserted Rev. C. A. Cole. "Yet, in our moments of thoughtfulness and when we face the realities of life, we know there must be a place where wrongs will be righted, a place where the longings of the soul will be fulfilled."

"The seasons, the fields, all nature speaks the language of eternity. The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament sheweth His handiwork." Before the worlds were, He was. He has made us for a purpose not perfected by our little lives here.

"Shakespeare was right: 'Thou knowest 'tis common; all that lives must die, passing through nature to eternity.' Time is but an isthmus between two eternities."

Largest Prayer Meeting
"We must all stand before the judgment seat of God. Our petty notions, set beliefs, theories, church creeds, money, reputation, secret societies—these will not serve as props then. Your mother, or wife or friend can't stand there for you."

"We shall all stand before the judgment. That will be the largest prayer meeting ever attended. All will be there. Those who bowed to wood and stone, the drunkard, the harlot, the respectable society folks, the ungodly church member, the false preacher and his follower, the good and

Haunted by Crime Visions; Quits Job

NEW YORK.—Finishing fourteen years of gruelling work which brought him into daily and hourly contact with murder, Nathan Birchall, Jr., resigning stenographer of the Homicide Bureau of New York county, declared recently his dreams were now free from haunting visions of gory killings.

The man who has answered an average of 600 calls to the scene of violent death every year he served says his iron nerve has kept him from being preyed upon by his gruesome experiences. Practically every murder that has happened in Manhattan since 1908 has registered on Birchall's telephone. Awakened from sleep, at all hours of the night, called from theaters and dinner parties by the news of sudden and mysterious death, he has seized his stenographer's note book and rushed to the arena of crime.

"While I have answered about 600 calls yearly," he said today, "not more than half of these were properly within my domain, as accidental deaths hardly required my services. Only where antemortem statements of an assassin's victim, or of witnesses to slayings, or confession of defendant before arraignment are needed has my work been required."

Perhaps one reason why his nerve-racking work has never affected his spirit when off duty is that Birchall is thirty-three and possesses a powerful will.

True—we'll all be there. It is rare for governors and senators, for millionaires and mighty men of affairs to attend prayer meetings. But they'll be at this one. Infidels and scoffers and scorners of religion, they'll be there.

"You may keep back what you don't like to confess here," not there. Everyone shall give an account of himself to God. You can send someone to pay your gas bill, your children can run errands for you, you can arrange to have an administrator settle up your business for you after you are dead, but you alone will have to turn in your account to God."

MARY MINTER IN DIFFERENT FILM AT GLENDALE

Without Curls and Without Sign of Flapperism, She Pleases as 'Tillie'

Mary Miles Minter without a curl; Mary Miles Minter absolutely divorced from the vivacious "flappers" of her past; Mary Miles Minter in a part that offers her ample opportunity to demonstrate her real dramatic ability—that's what local playgoers saw last night when they attended the opening of "Tillie" at the Glendale theatre.

"Tillie" presents Miss Minter as a little Miss with a hunted look in her eyes; a girl brought up in a strict Mennonite community; her father a cruel and grasping personality who denies her all those things that belong to a maid just emerging into womanhood.

Comedy, news and chats complete the pleasing bill.

Memory Expert to Give Demonstration

George W. Hamley, who is to visit Glendale Monday, July 31, is entirely out of the class of the million or more humans who say "Yes, your face is familiar but I can't recall your name." In fact, Mr. Hamley is in a class by himself, for he remembers vividly everything he does, sees, hears and reads, and this uncanny faculty has won for him the reputation of being one of the world's greatest memory experts.

Just to justify his claim to being called the "Miracle Memory Man" and the "Human Dictagraph," Mr. Hamley is coming to Glendale and will appear at 8 o'clock next Monday night in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to demonstrate the use of a trained memory, using educational, entertaining and interesting subjects. There will be no admission charge.

Mr. Hamley was the only memory expert used in the army in France, where he carried code messages that could not be entrusted to writing. He acted as the memory for his division and could have gotten secretly into German territory and looked around and returned safely, he would undoubtedly have brought back detailed information that would have made the A. E. F.'s victorious march to Berlin an easy one.

It took Mr. Hamley nine years to get through the fourth grade, but today at 35 years of age he is able to mentally inventory a great railway supply yard in seven hours without taking a note—and a corps of army clerks were a week inscribing the same information. He can repeat lectures and books verbatim and can rattle off the names of 100 men he was introduced to last month. Each day is crowded full of information for him and according to college and university professors he imbibes in a few weeks information it takes the average college student four years to acquire, it is declared.

In London, stolen automobiles are paraded by the police of Scotland Yard to enable owners to identify them.

LOCAL TEAM WINS BOTH SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

Record of Glendale's Squad to Date Eleven Won Out of Thirteen Played

Winning both games, Saturday and Sunday, the Glendale Merchants hung up a higher average, boosting their standing to eleven games won out of thirteen played this season.

Saturday's mixup, staged at 3 o'clock on the local park, was taken easily by the Glendale team by a 13 to 5 score, Walt Heidler pitching.

Yesterday Rube Ellis brought his Rivera club and the two fought to a 2 to 2 score, with the Merchants on the long end.

The pitching of Aageson for the locals occasioned a lot of comment from the visitors. The former Glendale Union High school twirler struck out fifteen men, and let the Riverans down with only four hits.

Brilliant Playing
King behind the plate and Back, the stellar first baseman, played steady and brilliant games, and helped materially in bringing in the extra score which clinched the game for the Merchants.

Denny, second baseman of the visitors, was the Roger Hornsby of the game, bringing in both of the runs chalked up for that team.

Elmer Ponder Has Best Pitching Mark

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—Although Elmer Ponder of Los Angeles is out of the game with injuries, his percentage of .833, as the result of ten victories and only two defeats, still is the best for the season of any of the Pacific Coast League pitchers. Jake May of Vernon ranks as the second best hurler in the league, having won sixteen games and lost four, making his average .800 third, with fourteen victories, five defeats and a percentage of .736 to his credit.

Other high pitching averages to date are:

WILLARD IS SEEKING TO REDUCE

Jess Willard photographed recently while starting his training at Los Angeles. At present he weighs 265 pounds, but expects to lose the excess weight quickly.

Bill Johnston Is Sure of Making Team Permit Sunday Golf But Taboo Baseball

NEW YORK, July 24.—Bill Johnston, 120 pounds of fighting California, is heading east for the carnival lawn tennis championships, prepared to take full advantage of the fact that his selection for the Davis cup team is so certain he will not find it necessary to overwork himself in preliminary matches. Johnston made this mistake last year and paid the penalty of being overtrained when he entered the nationals at Philadelphia.

There he was beaten by his co-star of the Davis cup team, Bill Tilden, in one of the semi-final matches. The nature of the defeat was such that a story got out immediately afterwards that Johnston was through with competitive tennis.

They did not know Bill Johnston. Having a competitive heart as big as a cabbage and the rare gift of self-analysis, it was only to be expected he would make an intelligent attempt to come back if only to confound his critics.

That is exactly what Johnston has done during the intervening months. He has come back like a bad check. He has already scored two victories over Tilden on the coast. But he has no intention of running himself stale before the big test is at hand. His is the type of game that reaches perfection in a comparatively short time and slumps off just as readily. More gradual development of his game is his plan this year.

Tagging All Bases

The Cards, who had formed the annoying habit of coming from behind with remarkable rallies in the late innings, failed to produce one this time, and dropped the final of the series with the Braves, 4 to 1.

Playing a formally informal game with their second team, otherwise the Boston Red Sox, the Yanks struck their home stand with an 11 to 7 victory.

Vic Aldridge confined the Dodgers to five hits and the Cubs cake-walked in, 4 to 1.

The Senators treated three Philadelphia pitchers very harshly and won from the Athletics, 11 to 2.

The Giants gained a rolling fall over the Reds, 4 to 1. Ryan pitched shut-out ball against Laque after the first inning. The victory put the Giants in first place again.

Two Families Are Killed In Accident

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—Two families were virtually wiped out last night returning from a Sunday's outing.

Hastening home, Thomas Lynch cut around another machine and his car was hit by a Market Street Railway company street car at Railroad street. Lynch, his wife and their 5-year-old daughter Mary, were killed outright as were his sister-in-law, Mrs. Bridget Lynch and her 3-year-old son, Phillip. In a dying condition in the hospital are Miss Katherine Garvin, sister of Mrs. Thomas Lynch; Marie Lynch, 3, twin sister of Phillip; Katherine Lynch, twin sister of Mary Lynch, and John Lynch, 6, son of Mrs. Bridget Lynch.

The Lynch automobile took fire and it was with great difficulty that the living were rescued. Painful burns added to the severity of the injuries of those not dead.

YANKS GET BEST OF TRADE WITH RED SOX CLUB

Exchange of Players Is Announced; Eddie Roush Signs With Reds

NEW YORK, July 24.—Opinion among baseball men here is almost unanimous in declaring the Yanks got much the better of the trade with the Red Sox, made public today.

The Red Sox gave up infielder Joe Dugan and outfielder Elmer Smith for Wilson Fawcett and Johnny Mitchell, utility infielders, Elmer Miller, extra outfielder and a pitcher yet to be named. None of the ex-Yanks named have played regularly this season.

Roush Signs With Reds
CINCINNATI, July 24.—Eddie Roush signed a contract with the Reds today, but both parties refused to disclose the terms. Roush will be in the Cincinnati line-up today in an exhibition game with the New York Yankees.

John McGraw Is Ill
CINCINNATI, July 24.—John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, is confined to his bed at the Shulton hotel, suffering from a severe case of congestion of the lungs. Hugh Jennings will have charge of the Giants during McGraw's illness.

Dempsey In Exhibition
BUFFALO, N. Y., July 24.—Jack Dempsey, his manager, Jack Kearns, Floyd Fitzsimmons, Dan McKetrick and Leo Flynn, manager of Bill Brennan, are here today to confer on the proposed match between Dempsey and Brennan. Dempsey is scheduled to meet three men in an exhibition bout in a local ring tonight. Kearns says that in the next twelve months Jack will box Brennan, Willard, Willis and Greb.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh

DELANE, N. J., July 24.—Leonard in this neighborhood. If you ask them, they will tell you that Thursday night will see the greatest fight of years. That attitude is quite the opposite to the one prevailing at Budd lake, where Leonard daily tells the critics that the bout is a joke.

Tender is not disturbed by reports from Leonard's camp that the fighter, because he fights right hand and foot extended, will be a mark for a right cross. "How about Leonard's claim that you will have to carry your left high to protect your jaw and as soon as you drop it to shoot a punch, he'll cross with his right?" I asked.

"Benny is very foolish," was the reply. "He ought to know that I won't have to carry my left hand any higher than he will his right. I can hit as fast as he."

You cannot spend a day with him in camp without sensing the fact that he may be the coming lightweight champion.

No one is underestimating

Followers of track athletics today, will be surprised to learn that Charlie Paddock, so often referred to as "the fastest human," would have been an easy mark for many sprinters of past generations. This is proven conclusively by actual figures which mainly show that Paddock's amateur (note the word amateur) records are inferior to the best times made by professional sprinters.

THE JOYS OF SHEDS

It is my ambition to own an old house some day because I love old houses. I love their quaintness and their unexpectedness. I love their old gardens and their lilac bushes and the big trees that you buy with them and which all the money you may put into imitating an old house will not buy for you. And I believe in the fine saying, "An old house harbors peace better than a new."

The Authorman, on the other hand, is one of those people who claim that it is better to produce the old lines in new timbers. He claims that old houses are likely to be musty and that they are always calling out for the services of a plumber or a mason or carpenter. Just when you need the money for something important, — as, for instance, a new car.

You Get So Many Sheds

But on one count he does lean slightly toward the old house idea. You would never guess what it is. Because you are likely to get so many wonderful sheds thrown in with an old house.

The Authorman loves sheds. He says they fascinate him. I think it is partly because he has had experience in building one or two small buildings at the present price of lumber and the idea of all those little buildings that would cost so much now being thrown in with the house appeals to his joy in a bargain. And then he probably remembers the sheds of his youth, and has a sentimental tenderness for a shed because of the memories of old games and good times that cluster around the shed. Sheds and Attics Are Disappearing

"Even as you and I," — that is, if you are old enough to have lived in a house with a real shed. Along with the attic of our childhood the shed has rapidly been disappearing, sacrificed on the altar of

PROTECT YOUR HANDS

Last week I quoted a world famous palmist on the various types of hands and what they signify. But no palmist has ever talked about the type of hand I think the most interesting of all—the hand where the tragedy of poverty and hard work is written in every line and wrinkle, in every enlarged knuckle and on the hardened yellow palm. The overworked hand is the most tragic sight I know. All traces of youth and loveliness have disappeared, all characteristics submerged and nothing is left but a record of sacrifice and struggle.

Women with such hands write and ask me what they can do to bring back a little of the good looks that have been worked away. It seems like trivial advice to tell them to protect their hands while they are working and to feed the dried skin with nourishing oils, to give a little attention to the finger nails. And yet it is just this sort of treatment which is effective.

The hands respond to care in the most amazing fashion, even five minutes a day will work wonders. Practical suggestions are to give the hands plenty of oil, to wear gloves while working, to rub vaseline or oil into all the edges of the nails at night.

Another suggestion is keep an orange wood stick and a pair of manicure scissors and a small pointed nail file in the bathroom cupboard. Then when the hands are washed the nails can be cleaned while they are still damp and easy to do, and loose bits of skin can be clipped off before they have a chance to grow larger and make the fingers sore. The purpose of the orange wood stick is to push back the cuticle around the nail, an attention the very busy woman will always slight although it would save her hangnails.

Connie—A soap in which there is some tar makes a satisfactory shampoo for some people, as the tar is antiseptic and many scalp conditions are in need of just such treatment. Tar soap should only be used, however, upon dark hair.

Brushing the hair every night will have no effect upon dandruff. You need a good tonic for this condition in addition to toning

John Van Schaick, Jr., has written a comprehensive, interesting and wholly unexcited account of the work of the American Red Cross in Belgium. Which is commendable for its clear perspective and good taste.

Diet and Health By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

THE SMALL APPETITE MYTH

It came to 2000 C., which was just the amount that I judged a woman of her activities needed to keep her normal. Still skeptical, I inquired, "What else do you eat?"

"Nothing, doctor," she assured me.

"No candy? No ice-cream sodas?"

"No, doctor, I eat nothing between meals, really!"

I looked at her, puzzled. Finally I said sternly: "Something goes into your stomach besides what you have told me. What is it?"

"Well, I do take the juice of six or eight oranges during the day, to help my constipation, but there is no food value in oranges."

So it was that she had added 500 or 600 calories a day to her diet.

Five hundred C., of any food more than the system needs, will add to your weight one-third of a pound a day, or 45 pounds a year.

Can you see how important the knowledge of the fuel or calorie values of food is? Do you know anything about calories, the fuel units? No? You supposed the calorie theory was exploded?

Well, it isn't. In the first place, there is no "calorie theory" any more than there is a yard theory or a bushel theory.

The explosion of calories is another bit of mis-information put into circulation by lay writers who know nothing of scientific dietetics nor what calories really are.

We are going to teach you something about those calories, painlessly. But meanwhile—tomorrow follow Saturday's menu.

Tomorrow—My Most Embarrassing Moment

They Say That

During the Victory Loan campaign 300,000 copies of a poster were placed before the American public. It bore the title, "Sure, We'll Finish the Job," and showed a smiling workman digging down in his blue jeans. The artist was Gerrit A. Beneker, who had tried in vain to sell his talents to the government in return for a bare living during the duration of the war. Failing in that, he sold "Sure, We'll Finish the Job" to a Chicago lithographer on a royalty basis, and the lithographer sold it to the government—at a profit for all concerned.

After the war, Beneker still bitten by the idea that art had a place in labor relations, set up his studio in a Cleveland steel mill. He painted his fellow workers at their tasks and in their rough clothes. Then he wrote short interpretations to accompany the pictures and published both pictures and comment in the house organ of the company. Thus grew a unique collection of industrial art, now comprising some thirty canvases of power and originality.

During the past winter the Beneker collection was sent on tour through the Middle West. It ranged as far west as Wichita, Kansas, with stopovers at St. Louis, Missouri, Kansas City, Missouri, and several Kansas towns where artistic interest runs higher than Easterners imagine. It was shown in factory towns and railroad towns, as well as in university centers. In Flint, one of the leading automobile centers of Michigan, the Chamber of Commerce paid the expenses of the exhibit, and more than 5000 people viewed the pictures.

Beneker takes both life and art seriously. He believes that through artistic interpretation of industrial processes men who labor can be brought to appreciate the dignity and beauty of their essential tasks. Also, he agrees with Whiting Williams that deep in the heart of the laborer is the desire to be appreciated, a craving for public recognition of the importance of his job. The first sentence a worker speaks, when you are watching him at his work, is likely to be this: "There's more to this job than you think there is."

That is the professional's challenge to the heedless amateur, the expert individual's justification of his existence. To get that claim on record permanently before the world in color and line Beneker holds to be one duty of the artist.

This, of course, is pioneer work. Just as Miller pioneer with peasants in paint, so Beneker pioneers

To can String Beans

the Easy Lorain Way

String and grade. Put in cheese cloth bag and scald from 5 to 10 minutes in boiling water. Cold-dip. Pack whole, to within 1/2 inch from top of jar. Add no water. Add 1 teaspoon salt (for quart jar). Adjust scalded rubbers in position. Put jars in oven. Set Lorain regulator at 250 degrees, leave the hot kitchen for two hours and forget your canning. When alarm clock rings at the end of that time, remove jars from oven and seal tightly.

To can Tomatoes

the Easy Lorain Way

Select solid ones, scald long enough to loosen skins. Dip in cold water, core and peel. Pack whole, to within 1/2 inch from top of jar. Add no water. Add 1 teaspoon salt (for quart jar). Place scalded rubbers in position. Adjust lid loosely. Put jars in oven. Set Lorain wheel at 250 degrees. Forget them for one hour, while you rest. Remove jars from oven and seal tightly when alarm clock rings. That's all.

To can Beets

the Easy Lorain Way

Clean well, scald about 5 minutes. Cold-dip. Remove skins. Pack whole, sliced or cubed. Fill jar with boiling water, adding 1 teaspoon salt for quart jar. Put scalded rubbers in place, leave lids loose. Set Lorain regulator at 250 degrees, and cook in oven for 1 1/2 hours, unwatched. Meanwhile, you rest where it is cool. Remove jars and seal them when alarm clock rings. Isn't that easy?

How to keep cool while canning

The famous Lorain Oven Heat Regulator has changed home canning methods—made it easy and always successful. Read the recipes. Isn't that an improvement over the old way?

No more standing over steaming kettles on a scorching stove, while the kitchen heat rises far above the temperatures of a July day. Lorain canning means resting on your cool veranda while Lorain watches the job.

No need any longer to stay for weary hours in the hot kitchen to watch steaming kettles. Any woman who cooks with gas can do her canning with far less time and work! Thousands of women praise this Lorain oven method.

With a Lorain-equipped Clark Jewel, all canning is very simple and easy, as you'll see from the above recipes.

You don't have to stay in the kitchen, after preparing the vegetable or fruit and putting the jars in the oven! While Lorain watches the canning you are free to do other things.

You will find, too, that fruits and vegetables done the Lorain way keep their firmness, color, and fresh-from-the-garden taste perfectly. There are many advantages of oven canning by measured time and temperature. Let us demonstrate them to you now, and give you the free illustrated booklet "Lorain Oven Canning."

LORAIN - OVEN HEAT REGULATOR

The Lorain Oven Heat Regulator is an attachment on Clark Jewel gas ovens. It automatically keeps your oven at any one of 44 different temperatures. Simply set the "red wheel" for any heat you want. Changes in gas pressure, etc., do not affect the oven temperature.

CLARK JEWEL GAS RANGES

The baked-on finish of these ranges gives them a lustrous, durable surface that is as easy to keep clean as it is good to look at. All-steel construction prevents breakage. A variety of pleasing styles and convenient sizes to choose from.

A merchandising event that will attract hundreds of suburban buyers from Burbank, Eagle Rock, La Crescenta, La Canada, Tujunga, Sunland and other nearby places—as well as all the shrewd shoppers of Glendale is Dollar Day, Thursday, July 27th, with three score or more of Glendale's merchants co-operating in making it a real day of bargains.

Glendale is rapidly becoming one of the best retail centers outside Los Angeles, hardly a day passing but what shoppers come to this city from Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena and larger places, on account of the real values offered by local merchants. The stores and stocks of Glendale merchants are increasing in size and magnitude so rapidly that the local business men have planned a series of bargain and trade-in-Glendale events that it may be forcibly advertised to the buying public that Glendale is a trading center second to none.

Thursday's Dollar Day will be a real carnival of buying. Costs in marking goods have been in many cases forgotten. Don't forget to bring the children as well as your friends to Glendale's shopping district Thursday, for there are bargains in which they are interested as well as souvenirs. And so many things are offered free in combination with dollar purchases that it will pay well to watch and see what every business man has to offer.

PICTURE FEATURE
AT T. D. & L.

Comedy-Melodrama Offering Today; Some Prominent Players in Cast

A potpourri of entertainment is that supplied in Mack Sennett's six-reel comedy-melodrama, "The Crossroads of New York," which is the attraction at the T. D. & L. theatre today. It opens with humor, runs into romance, develops into drama and ends with a sensational scene when a man and a girl struggle on a narrow balcony a hundred feet in the air and two others clamber down the roof to the rescue. To get at the villain on the balcony they have to leap down from the roof. That in itself is a sensation, but when one of the men taking the jump misses and goes hurtling down below, the scene brings a gasp.

Well-known Players

"The Crossroads of New York" is released by Associated First National Pictures, Inc., and has in its

Wedding May Result
From Case in Court

LOS ANGELES, July 24.—Virtually admitting the possibility of a reconciliation and "settlement by marriage," Miss Evan Barrows Fontaine, beautiful dancer, held out hope her affairs with Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney might be settled without the courts, against whom it is said two suits have been filed concerning the paternity of the child and Whitney's refusal to marry her.

Found in a local hotel the former Polities girl and oriental dancer said she still "cared" for Young Whitney, better known as "Sonny" and son of Harry Payne Whitney, wealthy race horse owner, and that she would do her part towards a reconciliation or anything that would give her baby a name.

Cast such well-known players as Noah Beery, Kathryn McGuire, George O'Hara, Charles Murray, Mildred June, Ethel Grey Terry, Billy Bevan and Eddie Gribbon. While that at first glance is a cast composed almost entirely of comedians, it is quite surprising to find funmakers doing dramatic work and injecting into their work little human angles which register splendidly.

The department of the Seine, in which the city of Paris is located, has 56,644 motor vehicles.

Socialist Leaders Predicting Discord

ROME.—That the much-discussed collaboration of the Socialist party with some other parliamentary group may result in a new split in Italian Socialist forces is admitted by the leading Socialists in Rome today.

Whether or not there will be collaboration is a question that will be decided at an extraordinary congress of Socialists soon to be held. So far, Socialists declare, there is no schism in the party although the Parliamentary group has voted for collaboration in direct opposition to the mandate of the national council, which voted against collaboration last November.

Socialist Deputy Giovanni Merloni, one of the old deputies of the Italian Parliament and a collaborationist, declared in an interview today that "it is necessary to collaborate political forces at this time, so that the normal life in social and political manifestations in Italy may be restored and the empire of law re-established."

He pointed out that the attacks of the Fascist group in Italy have been made against the most revolutionary Socialists and the reformists alike. "In fact," he added, "the worst attacks have been made on the reformist Socialists."

Locomotives in Need of Repairs, Claimed

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The motive power of all railroads in the country will be seriously crippled if not brought to a dead standstill before many weeks if the strike of the six federated shop crafts continues. It was stated in official quarters.

By the middle of August, it was said, locomotives on all railroads will be legally unfit for service. Only by violating or "stretching" federal laws governing locomotive inspection can the trains be kept moving after that time, it was said.

Locomotives require constant "barbering" to keep them in condition and the laws governing their inspection are rigid. Usually a pilot requires repairs after each trip and when this attention is not given the engines deteriorate.

On 70,455 locomotives over 10,000 of them were in need of repairs in the first week following the strike order. There are only 4500 points in the United States where locomotives may be repaired expertly and with dispatch.

The ensuing week, it was learned, will see thousands of locomotives ordered out of commission.

President's Efforts Tested by Coalmen

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24.—President Harding's efforts to blot out the growing spectre of a nation-wide coal famine, already fast throttling the country's industrial life, went to a test here in the soft coal fields of southwestern Pennsylvania today under outwardly peaceful conditions. Success or failure of the administration's efforts to end the strike of 680,000 union coal miners depends on the outcome of efforts of the operators beginning today in this district, great-est of all producing fields in the United States.

An air of nervous uncertainty greeted dawning of the day. Uncertainty as to whether mines could be successfully operated under the shield of an imposing array of state militia, ordered into the field at the behest of the president, predominated an atmosphere pregnant with possibilities.

Britain No Longer Makes Poison Gas

LONDON, July 24.—Great Britain has ceased entirely to manufacture poison gas except for experimental purposes, Premier Lloyd George announced in the house of commons this afternoon.

German Music Halls
Close; Money Scarce

BERLIN.—Hundreds of music halls, cabarets and varieties will have to close on account of the general economic crisis. Beer cabarets and smaller varieties that sprang up like mushrooms during the war can no longer afford to pay the exceedingly high salaries for first-class artists.

"Fancy tricks," which are the vogue in America, cannot be staged because of their enormous costs.

If conditions are not changed there will be an exodus of German artists abroad, especially to Holland and South America.

Berlin Theatres Hold Shakespeare Record

BERLIN.—Shakespeare is being performed oftener in Germany than in his native country, according to statistics issued by the German Shakespeare society.

In 1921 there were 1,997 performances of Shakespearean plays in Germany against 372 in England. "Midsummer Night's Dream," which is the favorite with the Germans, was given 318 times on thirty-three different stages.

Mine Snipers Fire
On State Militia

COKEBURG, Pa., July 24.—Snipers opened fire on state troops early today at the Denbo mine, on the outskirts of Brownsville, according to information received at the headquarters of Colonel Edward Stackpole, Jr., in command of the national guardsmen stationed here. Several of the men attached to troop E, state constabulary, had narrow escapes. Later state troops made a house to house search for the snipers, but they had vanished. After the search sniping ceased.

Labor Fails to Grasp Opportunity, Is Claim

LONDON.—Labor has failed to grasp its opportunity, arising out of post-war conditions, according to Bishop Gore.

The Bishop declares that the failure of the labor party to seize upon its chance to acquire power is due to the dangerous influence of revolutionaries and personal jealousies.

PICKLES

Remember when making chow chow or sweet pickle that pickles will become soft and lose their crispness if heated too long in the vinegar.

Canine Proves Fiend for Ice Cream Cones

MARTINS FERRY, Ohio.—When G. W. Ball, world war army captain, wants to "set 'em up" to his family he always buys three ice cream cones.

One cone is for Mrs. Ball, another for himself and—no, guess again. There is no little Ball. The third cone goes to Mick, Ball's Boston bulldog.

Mick eats ice cream as though it were the finest thing in the world. He also often gets the next best thing along that line—ice balls—through the generosity of youthful owners of ice ball stands who like to see the dog eat them.

Dictatorship May Be Formed by Italy

ROME, July 24.—A military dictatorship may be established in Italy if former Premier Orlando is unable to form a new cabinet in succession to the Fascist ministry, it was reported today.

It is understood Deputy Mussolini, parliamentary leader of the Fascists, has promised to cooperate with Orlando. This promise, however, has had the effect of alienation of socialist support.

Culbertson Losing In Texas Senate Race

DALLAS, Texas, July 24—With approximately 350,000 votes counted out of a prospective total of from 600,000 to 700,000 in Saturday's Democratic primary, it appeared certain today that United States Senator Charles A. Culbertson has been defeated for the nomination to succeed himself and that the second primary on August 1 will see Ku Klux Klan forces fighting it out with their opponents.

Earle B. Mayfield, present state railroad commissioner, is leading former Governor James E. Ferguson by nearly 25,000 votes. Mayfield's lead is nearly 35,000 behind Mayfield.

Ex-Congressman "Bob" Henry has been eliminated from the race and is running last, Clarence B. Ousley, assistant secretary of agriculture in the Wilson administration, is not far ahead of Henry, while Cullen F. Thomas appears to be the runner-up to Culbertson.

Henry was, through his own announcement, a Klan candidate, but in the closing days of his campaign charged a plot to throw Klan support to Mayfield. Ferguson, who was once impeached as governor, has staged a strong come-back on his "light wine and beer" and labor platform. Ferguson attacked the campaign.

Governor Pat M. Neff apparently secured a safe majority over his opponents, Fred S. Rogers, Harry T. Warner and W. W. King and will probably be nominated in the first primary.

CHURCH IS FACING GREATEST TASK, SAYS PASTOR

Each Local Organization Has Own Obligation, Asserts Dr. Crist

"The organized church to succeed depends upon adequate machinery, sufficiency in numbers and efficiency in quality of the operators," asserted Dr. C. M. Crist, yesterday morning at the First Methodist church. "The church of Jesus Christ never faced a more stupendous task than that which confronts her today. Each local organization has a peculiar obligation in reference to its immediate constituency. Besides this, there is a great world-wide program laid down by the Lord himself, for He is still saying 'Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.'"

"Methodism, fired with the spirit of a mighty enthusiasm, has attempted the biggest concrete program in the history of church enterprise. Nothing less than the great 'Century' movement would have been adequate. Some Blessing

"But some are missing the blessing of it all because they think of this as a man-made plan which is offered as a substitute for prayer and personal consecration. This is an insidious temptation but careful study will bring us all through the uncertainties in question and bring us out into the effulgent shining of that light which lighteneth every man who earnestly seeks his place in God's great plan."

"The church must not only attempt that which is to be accomplished in far away lands but she must make consistent and persistent efforts to meet the obligation which rests upon her for the serving of her own community. Instead of destructive criticism of harmful amusements, she must put on a constructive program and furnish the best of entertainment. The church should be the center of wholesome amusement and should operate every day of the week. Every need of man socially should be met by a real conscientious and determined effort of the church."

"There is a special challenge along this line in this fast growing city. We need to be reminded that God has promised to make us sufficient for our task. 'The problem is first of all one of equipment. This is true of the city itself, of our schools and of all the public utilities corporations. It is equally true of the church. But the greatest need is that of efficient and intelligent operators who feel the call of God to serve.'"

Some drivers are said to "drive on their brakes" while others "drive on the horn."

SPECIAL SERVICES BY LUTHERANS ON BIRTHDAY

Fifth Anniversary of Church Founding in Glendale Is Fittingly Observed

The fifth anniversary of the founding of the First Lutheran church was observed yesterday morning by a large congregation which complimented Dr. H. C. Funk for his work as their pastor. A vested choir of seven voices sang hymns appropriate to the occasion. Miss Mary Sherrick of 907 East Lomita, organist, played "Adoration" as the prelude. Miss Helen B. Esterly of Los Angeles sang a solo, "Come Unto Me." Mrs. Paul Hoffman of 327 North Maryland avenue and J. H. Niebank of 527 North Chester street sang "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," as a duet. Mrs. N. W. Hjorth of 609 East Palmer street, Cecil Albright and Edison Albright of 122 West Acacia avenue were other members of the choir.

"The Gate Beautiful" was the subject of the morning sermon. "You all know that I am proud of my church," asserted Rev. H. C. Funk, "and I take great pleasure in praising the Lord for the wonderful things He has done for us, for the Lord hath helped us and that right early. If there is any church that has great reason for being grateful to God, I believe it is this church. God has worked through her for the blessing of many souls."

Years of Preparation
 "These have been five years of preparation and you will remember that it took Him forty years to prepare Moses for his task. During these five years we have learned full many a needful lesson, one of which is that the spirit-of-can't kills. When we came to you a year a half ago, some folks said, 'Our number is so small that we can't afford to have a minister.' But others said, 'We can and we will.' Well, you have done it and what is more you are contributing three times as much to the support of the pastor as you did before and more than a hundred new members have been added to the fold."

"What does this mean? It means that with the help of God you can accomplish wonders. It means that God has moved upon the hearts of the people and raised up friends for the church. 'God's house ought always to be the most beautiful place in the community. And, moreover, God's people should not complain when called upon to contribute of their earthly means to its adornment. 'A church has no room in it for dance halls, card tables and the like, for, when these things come in, respect and reverence for the House of God go out. The restraining influence of the Gospel of Jesus Christ is the need of the hour.'"

SPENCER ROBINSON AND OTHER BOYS ENJOY CAMP

Fred H. Killick Back From Scout Headquarters on Catalina Island

 Southern California Scouts, but this was his first trip with the Glendale boys and they were very fortunate in securing him for the Catalina outing.

In his work with the beginners at Camp Howland he says that he lined forty boys up on the beach. Then he gave scientific demonstrations of detailed movements of arms and legs by swimming on a cracker box.

On the following day the boys were taken in the water to put into practical use the instruction of the day before and spent an hour practicing the arm and leg movements.

Mr. Killick gave tests in the more advanced swimming work and two of them he described as "One test was to have the boy fully clothed swim 100 yards without touching bottom, then unlace shoes and take off clothes, and only one boy successfully passed the test."

"Another was to have the boy dive into seven feet of water from the surface and pick up an article twelve inches in diameter and weighing ten pounds and bring it to the surface."

Mess Call Comes
 After the morning swim the boys are ready for mess, which is dispensed to them in troops by three colored cooks. The food is good and wholesome. Mr. Killick says, and the active camp life of the boys give them hearty appetites.

After the noon meal the time from 1 till 3 o'clock is leisure time and the boys are encouraged to write letters, one letter a day to their mothers. That they have responded to the suggestion was shown when Mr. Killick was leaving Sunday afternoon and asked if they were any letters to be mailed and before he left he had a collection of seventy-two letters to Glendale and other parts of California.

There is another hour of swimming and some athletic sports in the afternoon and supper following and during the evening the Scouts gather about a campfire for talks, music and entertainment stunts.

A warning bugle call sounds at 9:25 o'clock and five minutes later reveille and all is quiet for the night.

The boys are housed in nine tents of the old military type with ten occupants to a tent.

A special service was held on Sunday with addresses by executives and music by the camp choir directed by Mayor Robinson.

"The boys are in fine health," says Mr. Killick, "and the outing is doing them good. Of course some of them are sunburned, but they're being treated by the first-aid corps and anyway, sunburn is part of the fun."

LARGE HEART AID IN GIFT MAKING, IS ASSERTED

Better Than Head Force, Says Rev. Edmonds In Sunday Sermon

"And God gave Solomon largeness of heart—even as the sand that is on the seashore." This Biblical quotation was the text of the sermon yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church.

"It pays to do business with God; He repays with running-over measure," declared Rev. W. E. Edmonds. "But we are so filled up with second-best things while He stands ready to fill with the best. And what he has given in the past He still is ready to give now. He is just as anxious to give good gifts to us as to Solomon."

"Heart force is better than head force. One may be a pigmy but large with God. The measure of a man is his relationship with God. There is going to be great surprise up there with the measures and the rewards. Have you ever realized that God is willing His people up, seeking to draw them up to His plans for them?"

"Consider the characteristics of large-heartedness. It has large conceptions of God, sees Him over against every hard place and looks to Him to convert the little into the adequate. The large heart shows itself in love of the brethren, enabling us to be fair to the faults of others and to see good behind even their sins."

Keeps People Steady
 "Largeness of heart will keep up steady through a thousand petty things. It gets the mote out of the eye. Largeness of heart will put such beliefs as are trifles out of the way of the real great work. Those who have it are the ones who truly do things."

"Our giving is a question not of arithmetic but of the large heart. A man with a small heart never makes a large gift no matter what it is. Largeness of heart shows in our prayers. Is your heart big enough to put a world in? You can't whittle the world down little and put it in; the heart has got to be broken to get it in. How did you ever get into Christ's heart? Because it was broken for you."

"How may I have this largeness of heart? Do you want it? You can have it. What does the dilation mean? It means a death and interment of the old self life and having the heart of Christ put into you. Pattern your life by His heart that suffered and was broken for you and me."

SOAP THE BOLLER
 It is a good idea to rub the wash boiler with soap just after it has been emptied and is still warm. This will prevent rust and will make splendid suds when it is filled again.

It is estimated that there are 21,214 passenger automobiles, 952 trucks and 11,630 motorcycles in all South Africa.

Number of Local Lads Are Prize Winners In Sports Held on Island

 of peach cobbler prepared especially for them by the chef.

Secure Wild Goat
 A peculiar trophy was brought back from camp by Billy Leach of Monrovia. The boys had staged a goat hunt on the island, and succeeded in running down and capturing two of the wild goats which are to be found there. One of these goats died later, but the other was brought back and will, in the future, make his residence in Monrovia.

One of the features of the camp was a ten-mile hike across the island. The smaller boys went only as far as the summit of Blackjack Mountain, about 2,000 feet high, and after a short rest started back to camp from there. Eugene Muhleman of Glendale, who was with the other party, ran a thorn in his hand, and Rev. Richard A. Brown of San Dimas took him back to the party of smaller boys which was returning to camp under another leader.

Rev. Brown then started to rejoin the party which was by then well on its way to the other side of the island. After walking briskly for several hours, Rev. Brown could see no sign of the larger party, and found that he had lost his bearings. The boys had his lunch with them, and all day he hiked over the island, seeking either the party of boys, who were under Rex C. Kelley, local secretary, or the camp. During the entire day he had neither food nor water.

About midnight, however, he found his way back into camp, and after making up for lost time in the matter of food and drink, he vowed never to attempt the island alone again, at least without his provisions.

The camp was a success in every way, according to Secretary Kelley of the local Y. M. C. A., and he is looking forward to the next camp in September which will be attended by members of the local H-Y club.

Work of Art Made Here Awaits Buyer

Is Glendale interested in art? There seems to be rather good reasons for doubt, if one is to believe evidence submitted by H. C. Swartz, of the La Ramada art colony in North Glendale, who recounted the following story the other day:

Nearly a month ago, in the presence of a number of artists and lovers of art from Glendale, Hollywood and Los Angeles, he unveiled a newly-finished piece of work, which elicited the heartiest praise of all present. It is a large figure representing the Aztec Goddess of Water, partially and beautifully interpreted under the manipulations of Mr. Swartz' deft fingers. It is fashioned into a bird bath for use in the decoration of a lawn, the top of the head being hollowed for the bath. The chief difficulty now is to find a lawn whereon to establish this lost goddess. As yet, Mr. Swartz has been unable to interest anyone in the purchase of this work, despite the fact that Glendale has some of the most beautiful homes in Southern California, and, consequently, in the world.

The figure is yet in the clay, and will be cast in the plaster when a hale for it has been made. Now, clay figures are distinctly susceptible to the ravages of time, and Mr. Swartz realizes that the figure will begin to crumble if it stands many days longer. So he is offering to dispose of it to anyone who will furnish the funds for casting—a very nominal sum considering the value of the piece.

Of course, Mr. Swartz loses his work on the figure, but he has become rather attached to his creation and prefers to dispose of it in this fashion rather than see it fall to pieces on his studio floor.

Here seems to be an opportunity for someone who is truly interested in art to obtain a real, life-size, mastery piece for the decoration of his lawn for a song, as it were. Is Glendale interested in art?

Signal Hill Proves Of Interest to Many

J. F. Lasley of the J. F. Lasley interests of Signal Hill and Los Angeles has just opened a branch office at 200 West Broadway and is running excursions to Signal Hill daily, except Monday. Mr. Lasley is very heavily interested in oil lands on Signal Hill and is now disposing of one tract in unit form. It is understood that there are only a few units left and they will likely be taken this week, as the Shell Lasley No. 1 well has already gone through several hundred feet in the oil sands and is expected in today or tomorrow.

Both the Shell employees and Mr. Lasley state that they believe this well will be the largest on Signal Hill. They feel confident that it cannot be less than 3800 barrels, because it is located just across the street from the Shell Andrews, which is producing that amount, and the log is practically the same.

LOS ANGELES, July 24.—With H. Hays, "big chief" of the movies, spent today touring the Hollywood motion picture studios and getting acquainted with his "partners" of the business—the producers and makers of cinema productions, after his advanced arrival in Los Angeles yesterday unaware to but a small group of friends. Hays was scheduled to arrive today but pushed his plans ahead 24 hours in order to get a much needed day's rest.

Before departing on a visiting tour of the Hollywood picture plants today, Hays denied that he had a "new broom" program of reform, but said the place to correct the evil of which there has been some complaint—is where pictures are made.

Two outstanding features of Hays' visit to Hollywood will be a banquet in his honor Wednesday evening and a public meeting Saturday afternoon in Hollywood Bowl to which all connected in any capacity with motion picture making as well as the general public are invited.

Hollywood wore its best today and the streets were decorated in honor of the distinguished visitor.

LOCAL GIRL HELPS RESCUE MAN IN HEAVY SEAS

 on the beach that Miss Anderson was swimming with the man and was rescued also, but this was not so, according to her story, as she did not call for help once, but it was merely anxiety on the life guard's part.

Miss Anderson was picnicking at the beach with her relatives and a number of other residents of Glendale who went to attend the Michigan Evangelistic Mission college reunion which was celebrated by members from all over the Southland. Three machine loads represented Glendale's big quota. The thrilling rescue was witnessed by all.

The rescued man was given first aid treatment and rushed to a Long Beach hospital in an ambulance. Little hope is held out for his recovery. He is believed to have been a victim of cramps or heart trouble.
